Notice

This self-declaration of conformity is valid only upon full and correct implementation of all mandatory software development changes as specified in the preceding article listed by 8devices.

In all cases where any of the above-listed radio modules are used, the software package provided in the form of patches/ git repository changes for the OpenWrt platform shall be fully integrated into the final customer software release prior to placing the product on the market or used as provided by 8devices.

Although the reference implementation is provided for the OpenWrt platform, these requirements are not limited to OpenWrt. Equivalent software modifications shall be implemented on any alternative software platform, provided that such implementation ensures full compliance with the applicable requirements of Directive 2014/53/EU (RED), Article 3(3). The correct adaptation, integration, and validation of the provided software patches when applied to any software platform other than OpenWrt shall be the sole responsibility of the customer.

Non-implementation or incorrect implementation of the required software changes may invalidate the self-declaration of conformity and result in non-compliance with applicable regulatory requirements.

For authoritative guidance regarding the required software modifications and compliance obligations, please contact us directly for assistance.
